WE The Editors

● In presenting the 1939 Intermont have attempted to give a candid shot of Virginia Intermont College. There are, we feel, many things about our school which no amount of written matter or spoken word can portray. These are the things which we love best about our V. I. School; songs are inadequate, bulletins, view books, and even our memory books, would not show them in their true colors; and so, we realize the tremendous task that we have set for ourselves. We hope that we have succeeded by letting you see all that has gone into one year at V. I. This annual of 1939 might well be a record of any year at Intermont; V. I. changes faces constantly—never character. In the '39 Intermont we have tried to portray that character, that quality, which has made our school beloved by every "Little Intermont."

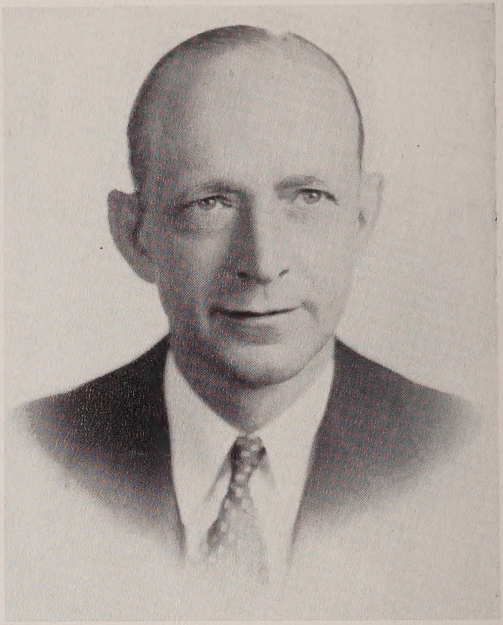
THE ENTRANCE TO ADMINISTRATION

Honoring Our President

● Dr. Noffsinger represents the principles for which Intermont stands. Her ideals are embodied in his cheerful disposition and wise counsel. His unselfish devotion to Intermont has imbued us all with the desire to be worthy of our Alma Mater.

Dr. Hugh G. Noffsinger



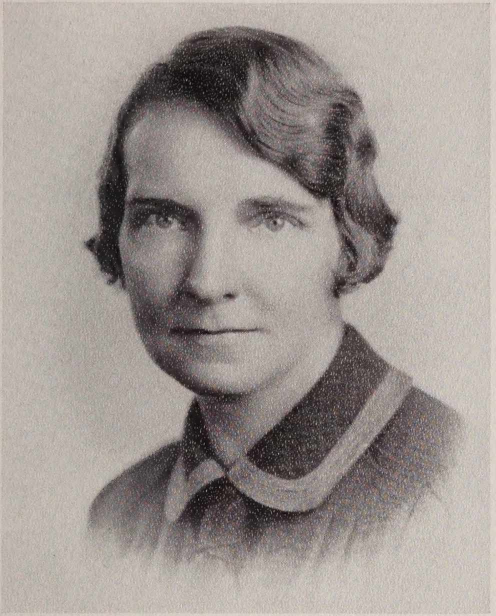
MR. BROWN

- His varied interests and friendly manner have made a host of friends for our Vice-President. In addition to being an active church worker and publicity agent for the school, Mr. Brown is interested in fishing, hunting, public speaking, and wild-life conservation.

MRS. MURRELL

- Our Dean is a real part of V. I. and of our lives here. We like to think of her as a mother to us all while we are at school. Her sympathetic kindness and sparkling humor will always live in the hearts of Intermont girls.

ADMINISTRATION

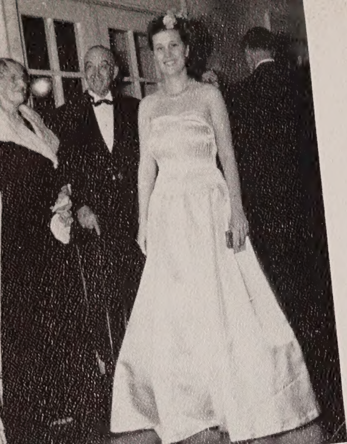


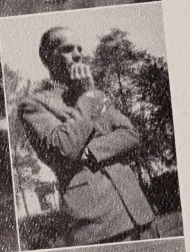
MISS PFLUG

● As a linguist, an expert horsewoman, or as an interesting personality, Miss Pflug has our admiration. We respect and love her for her intelligence and quiet dignity. In her we recognize the qualities most becoming to womanhood.

MR. NOFFSINGER, JR.

● V. I. points with pride to her Business Manager. He is a wide-awake and progressive young man, good at tennis and economics. He is also an ace photographer and a travel enthusiast. But he is not too busy to be the friend of every Intermont student.





JUST A GLIMPSE

Mrs. Noffsinger / Miss Nunnally — Mrs. Matthews / Mrs. Mitchell — Mrs. Hammer / Mrs. Knight — Mrs. Seay / Miss Foran

In describing the members of the faculty, some logical sequence must be devised. It must be not only logical but inoffensive and diplomatic as well. They might be arranged according to diameter, but some would object to that as being too personal—and even the best of us have our faults, figuratively speaking. They could be ranked on the basis of maze-running ability, but then intelligence tests made for white rats would hardly be fair to Phi Beta Kappas.

We might go from the tallest to the shortest, but that would put Miss Hutchinson at a disadvantage. And if we went from bad to worse, which one wouldn't have his feelings hurt? You can readily see in what a difficult spot this would put the Annual Staff. In fact, it looked hopeless until a member of the staff who has been around had the following happy thought (we quote):

"In museums the dodos (?) are usually displayed in their natural habitats. Although the case is not exactly analogous, the species under consideration being the facultum locum, the instances are certainly related. Wasn't it Mr. Anonymous who said that the true expression of personality may be discovered in the objects with which an individual surrounds himself?"

The staff promptly gave fifteen rousing cheers and appointed "I Ben Around" and "Brite Chile" to carry on the great work of discovering the unknown, unsponsored, and unsung faculty.

AT THE FACULTY

Miss Massie	Miss Case	Mrs. Crumley	Miss Kohl	Miss Calhoun	Miss Moore
Miss Ohlsen	Miss Wolfe	Miss Bowers	Miss Kelly	Mrs. Kelly	Miss Ordway

The aforementioned scene took place at 12 P.M., or thereabout, and not a creature was stirring except the inmates of the Harkrader house who are always stirring. Many of the efficient assistants reside in this madhouse, and as usual there was plenty going on. But Miss Stevenson and Miss Lucas are quite sane and were doing their respective bests to keep peace.

From there, our friends went out into the grey dawn in the direction of Hodges Hall. Of course, they should have known it would be closed at that hour, but girls will be girls. After a long and unsuccessful search for Mr. Williams and the keys, they sank hopelessly down on the hard, cold, concrete steps, and knew no more for several hours.

The explorers found the Misses McKee, Mays (alias Mrs. Harrison), and Bingham enjoying the hospitality and good cooking of Miss Miller.

In the meantime rain had begun to fall, and the expedition was obliged to go to West under great difficulties. However, the transition was accomplished safely, if not dryly. Upon coming out of the downpour, Miss I Ben Around suddenly heard music and, having a natural ear for music, she was unresistingly propelled by some inexplicable force to the studio of Mrs. Schroetter. In spite of the interruption, Mrs. Schroetter lived up to her reputation for cordiality and asked them inside. The room had a comfortable and home-like appearance which brought tears to Brite Chile's eyes, as she thought wistfully of her own home.

Across the hall Miss Pashley was instructing in the nimble magic of the keyboard. On the walls there were pictures of the teachers under whom she has studied.

All this musical atmosphere served to remind Miss I Ben Around that she had cut voice practice. After apologies to the stern, but forgiving, Miss Ohlsen, the happy morons pushed onward in their search for the facultum locum in its habitat.

On third Main the two great adventurers dropped in to visit Miss Reid. They found Miss Smith there for the same purpose and so concluded that it was great to be popular.

Miss Egbert was entertaining as her guests the charming and delightful Misses Ownbey, Hutchinson, and Wood. This visit proved to be very entertaining, until absent-minded Brite Chile abruptly remembered she had neglected to take her cold medicine. This called for a visit to Fourth Main, whither the two trotted happily.

After the grueling three flights of stairs, Brite Chile was puffing and wheezing much more than usual. Miss Foran, reputedly cool in any emergency, remained true to type, merely advising a lighter diet and more sleep. Brite Chile muttered something about not eating enough to keep a bird alive—and left.

Miss Nunnally was not in her room, but was conducting a dress rehearsal in the Little Theater. This information brought forth a lengthy discussion of a thwarted desire to be a great actress on the part of Miss I Ben Around, but it fell on deaf ears, as Brite Chile was busy worrying about the effect the temperature of the Little Theater might have on her cold.

Mr. Cooke — Miss Ownbey — Mrs. Harrison — Miss Hutchinson — Miss Bingham

Miss Reid — Miss McKee — Miss Wood — Miss Mize — Miss Jones

They then began a tour of the off-campus homes. At the Brown's they were welcomed by Mrs. Brown and her daughter, Ann, Margaret Crumley, and "Friend PeaNut." At the Martin House they met Mrs. Bixby and Miss Ordway. For old times' sake the quartet struck up "Alla en el Rancho Grande."

Mr. Cooke was kind enough to show the girls the art works which he has collected abroad.

In East Hall the Misses I Ben Around and Brite Chile ascended to the fourth floor. Upon reaching the summit, they felt strangely like travelers in the Swiss Alps. The reasons for the tremendous exertion were Mrs. Seay, Miss Mize, and Miss Jones, who live in the clouds, as it were.

En route from East to West our heroines got a strong whiff of—, no, it couldn't be. Yet—? They stopped dead in their tracks. They were sure of it as they crept stealthily to a door and knocked. They were shown into Miss McCoy's apartment. They saw everywhere evidences of good taste and extensive travel. Then suddenly they saw it. It was in the kitchen. Can you guess? Yes, it was a thick sizzling steak topped by a pile of golden french-fried potatoes—V. I.'s favorite dish. Realizing the importance of pleasure before duty, our heroines wearily sank into the glories of satisfying a long felt need for steak—and so we leave them—they deserve it.

CLASSES

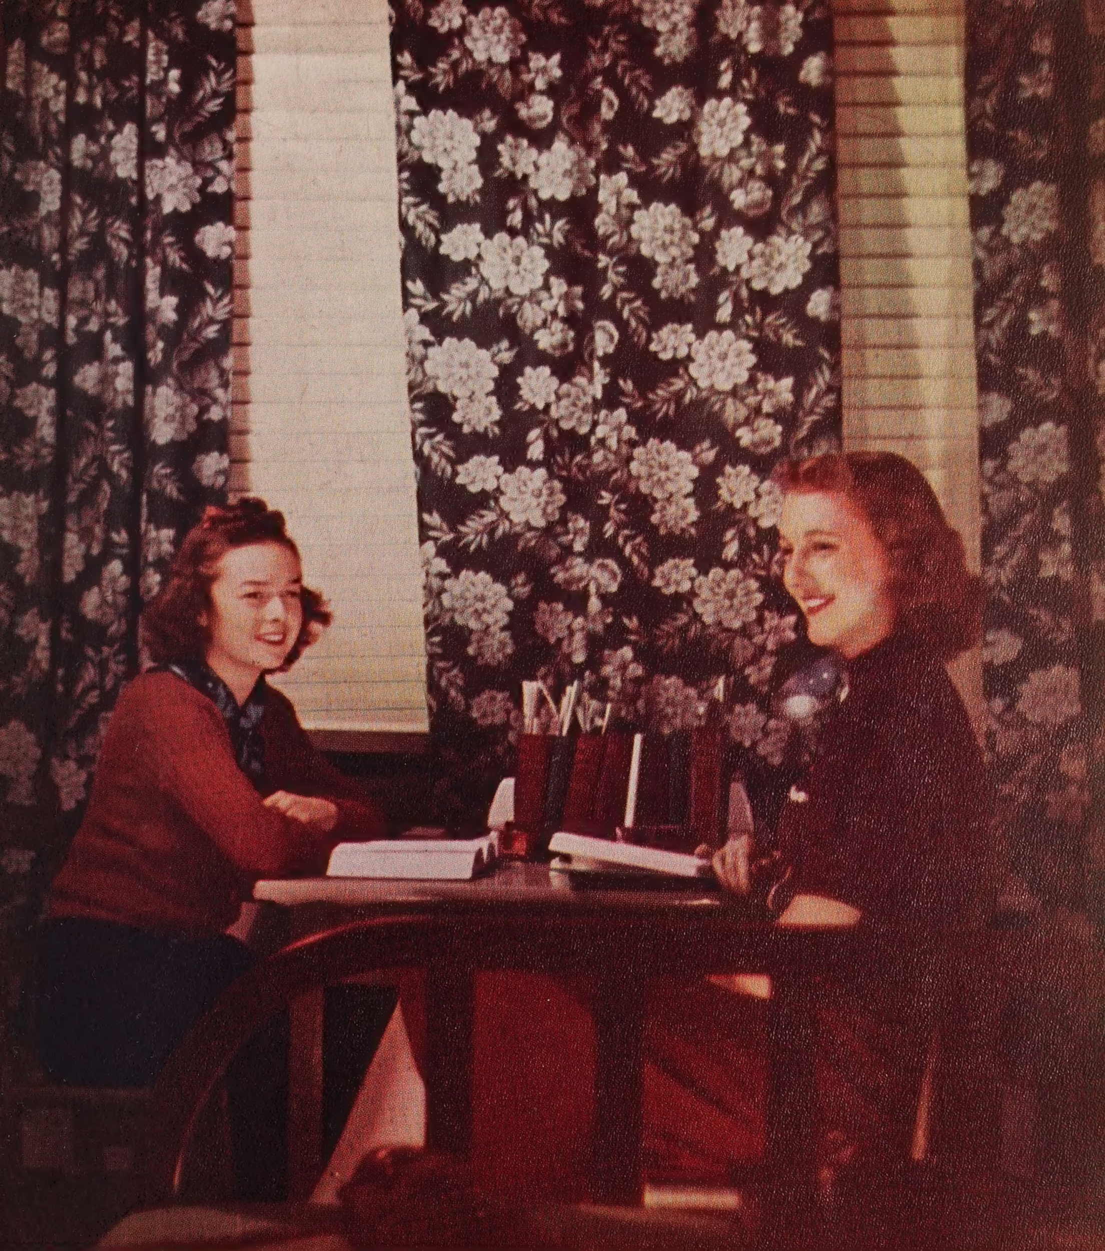
Dear Mr. Cook -

I've never known anybody in my life that I have looked up to and admired as much as I have you these two years at V.I. If it hadn't been for you I'm sure I wouldn't be glad I came, for you seem to understand things that no other member of the faculty could.

I think it would be wonderful to have your outlook on life, for nothing ever bothers you so much and if it does, you don't let others know it. I remember one nite down here you saying you were an idealist and always found something good in everybody, and I've tried ever since to think about thing like that, but am afraid I haven't made much progress as yet — however, I want you to know that I've found in you a wonderful friend, and I'll never forget you ever!

always,
Mattie:

P. S. You know that I have enjoyed my classes under you, but just knowing you is what has meant so awfully much



Dear Mr. Cooke—
Classes with you and knowing you has taught me much — in the schools of
Eng. - Journ. - Bible - and LIFE.
I appreciate more than you'll ever know — what you've done for me — your kind words an helping hand.
You've made me want to do my very best. Also — I've enjoyed your wit!
You've made the Intermont (2 yrs)
the happiest I've ever known — and I hope that Commencement won't end our friendship.
Until we meet again —
Remember —

how very much I've enjoyed studying

Dear Mrs. Cooke –
How could I ever tell you in such a small space how much you have meant to me as a teacher and friend. I've more than njoyed being in both your English and Bible classes, as well as working (?) with you on the Cauldron and Annual Staff.
You've inspired me so much nd its people like you that make me want to go on and t least try and make something uch of myself.
I'll never forget you Mrs. ooke for helping me so much.
Come to Sweetwater sometime and see us — I can't take you to a grand opera or play, but I'll at least show you something you've probably never seen before –

My dearest Mr. Cooke,
I am afraid that even a course in English VI under you hasn't added to my vocabulary the words I would need to describe you.
You are truly one of the grandest persons I have ever met and I feel that my whole life is happier by having met and known you.
From one Kentuckian to another, who are both living in Virginia, I want to say I think just "lots" of you.

Dear Mr. Cooke, Anything I say will probably seem trite to you, but I do mean it when I say you're one of the most interesting personalities I've ever met. My first year here at V. I. has become so much more worthwhile by just knowing you and talking to you. I admire you most of all, though, because you have such an intense interest in all your surroundings— in music, in art, in life itself. It's been a privilege to know you.
Sincerely,
Marian

Mr Cooke,
you've truly been my ideal and inspiration here at V. I. I hope you'll allow me the honor of always calling you my true friend.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

● These are the fearless souls who patrol the halls during the wee small hours. These are the vigilent proctors who can detect the slightest suggestion of playful mice or radios. On their beats they are conscientious in their devotion to duty— But, they are human. They can smell food at sixty yards and in such an emergency they rush to the scene of action tout de suite on the pretense of checking. Of course they can afford to eat turkey sandwiches at night because they do not have to go to breakfast—ever! (That and light permission are the laurels that go with the office of student government.)

The Staff

● To every student THE INTERMONT represents all that school life has meant in the way of good times, classes, clubs, and friends. It is a tangible reproduction of the Intermont she loves so well.

In the year-book are pictures of all her classmates and faculty. In the future when one becomes famous she can say, "I knew her when—" She can look at it and dream of the days that used to be—when girls dated in the parlors, and breakfast was compulsory and bacon and eggs. She will laugh at the funny clothes and queer hair styles she wore back in '39.

THE Y. W. C. A.

At the beginning of the summer the Y. W. C. A. begins preparation for the coming school term. Every new girl has a big sister who writes to her during the summer. There is a big get-acquainted party about two weeks after school begins.

During the year the Y. W. C. A. carries on social work, including Santa Claus for needy children, clothes for the poor, and visits to the Janie Hammitt Memorial Home.

The organization sponsors the Art, Drama, Travel, and Personality groups, as well as the "Tea House" and "Little Store" for the peculiar people who get hungry.

The Hallowe'en party and teas before Christmas and during exam-week are annual social functions. Then there is Pea-nut Week with its flourishing poetic genius.

The work, under the supervision of Miss Ethel J. McCoy, is carried on by the following officers and cabinet members:

OFFICERS

Betty Lea Evans, President
Sarajane Payne, First Vice-President
Teresa Rader, Second Vice-President
Sarah Yeargin, Secretary
Anne Rowell, Treasurer
Ethel J. McCoy, Faculty Adviser

PHI THETA KAPPA

● To begin with, Phi Theta Kappa is a national honorary society. Requirements of eligibility are that the student must be carrying at least 14 hours of Literary work and must be making an average of at least ninety. It is entirely a junior college organization and it corresponds to Phi Beta Kappa of senior college fame.

But that is enough of the academic side. Let us say right here and now that the members are not necessarily stuffy bookworms. They are regular girls, just like the other "little Intermonts."

It was really very funny when the time came to elect the officers last year. Only three girls were coming back. So those three each could have an office. Not much worry over competition there! Stacy Crockett became president, Ann Moore, vice-president, and Mary Jane Gentry had the combined honor of being secretary and treasurer. No wonder the whole school laughed when Dr. Noffsinger read the names of the members of Phi Theta Kappa each as an officer, when the new members were announced in chapel. And, by the way, the membership taken in this year is the largest in the history of the chapter.

There is a regular initiation service held soon after the girls are pledged. Then the final installation service is held, preceded by an entrance exam. It is really a wow. These services are secret ones, all done up in white and candlelight. Then we end up with a big banquet.

Miss Pflug is a wonderful sponsor. She makes all the activities buzzy with fun. She just couldn't be better.

The old members (and officers) are seen in the top picture. And the new members in the other.

DELTA PSI OMEGA

● Delta Psi Omega is the goal of every dramatic student's ambition. It is a national fraternity for junior college dramatic students. It is the highest honor that a dramatic student can obtain.

Miss Rhoda L. Nunnally, dramatic department head, is the sponsor. It is her work that has made this chapter here on the campus what it is today.

Curry Club gives its best members to belong to Delta Psi Omega. They have done much to make the school year a success by giving many interesting plays and programs. It is an asset to Intermont.

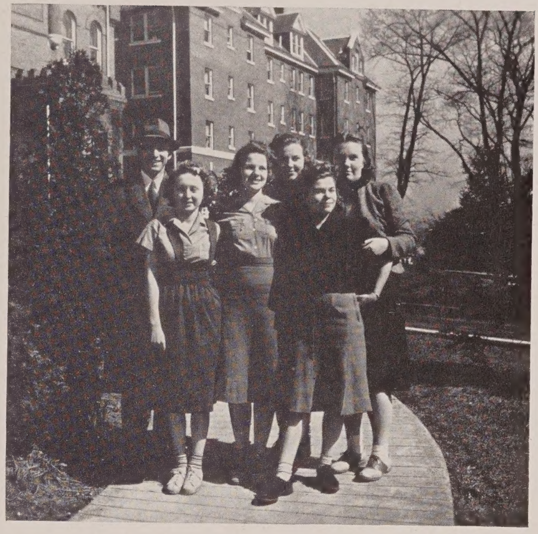
DEBATE SQUAD

● Virginia Intermont may well be proud of this group. It has won innumerable honors and immeasurable reputation for our school.

The question of debate this year has been: Resolved: That the United States should cease to use public funds for the purpose of stimulating business.

Honor is due the girls for their work this year. They won 16 out of 21 possible first places at the Strawberry Leaf Tournament in Winthrop, South Carolina. Every first place was taken in the Smoky Mountain Tournament here in Bristol. But that is only a small part. There is the National Tournament in Virginia, Minnesota, a meet at Asheville, N. C., and district Phi Rho Pi convention.

But the work didn't stop there. There have been more or less practice meets with King, Emory and Henry, Wake Forest, Carson-Newman, Mars Hill, Averitt Colleges, and others. They are tireless workers and they really get results.



PHI BETA

MEMBERS

Laura Snow Auston, Carolee Averitt, Imogene Barnes, Ann Brooks, Margie Colbert, Lois Jean Fitzimmons, Margaret Frost, Nancy Hawk, Leta Helm, Sally Kellner, Moselle Moore, Ann Montgomery, Mary Hart Mooneyham, Stella Ohlson, Marie Phillippi, Mary Jane Reynolds, Mary Stoots.

Phi Beta is a national professional fraternity for outstanding students in music, dancing, and dramatics. It has been confined to senior college but because of the high standards of Intermont the fraternity has invited us to form a chapter, making the second junior college to have one.

The organization was started at Intermont several months ago and the members were recently pledged. They expect to get a charter this year.

ORCHESTRA

● Mysterious noises coming from behind the closed doors of Harmony Hall caused quite a bit of speculation at first. Then the doors would open and girls would come out, carrying tell-tale cases. But after a little while there was no need of wondering. The here-to-fore noises began to take shape. Music came forth! It was Miss Claire Ordway and her musicians.

These girls have performed very well, both here on the campus and out in the big, wide, beautiful world. Their assistance has been asked upon many occasions, even out of town.

They have done a great deal of work in their extended practicing and deserve much credit for what they have accomplished.

GLEE CLUB

● All the queer noises of scales and such coming from the conservatory are of some avail after all. Or at least it seems so when the girls all get up to perform. And the difference! It's really wonderful how they do it. Vespers and chapel certainly sound different.

Mrs. S. T. Schroetter, voice teacher, is the capable director of the Glee Club. Another Gilbert and Sullivan operetta was given this year. This time it was "Pinafore." The yearly concerts are looked forward to also. This is one of the pleasantest groups on the campus. The girls in it enjoy it—and so do those who are not in it.

PHI RHO PI

● This organization is a national forensic society for junior colleges. The Virginia Alpha Chapter of Virginia Intermont is one of the three honorary fraternities on the campus. It is one of the outstanding chapters in the state.

Mr. Roy C. Brown is responsible for this excellent organization. As founder, sponsor, and leader, he has established a reputation for his girls that is unsurpassed.

We here at V. I. can thank these girls for many interesting programs. They certainly know how to give good ones. We are fortunate to have this group in our midst. Let's give Mr. Brown and Phi Rho Pi a big hand. They deserve it.

Betty Lea Evans rightfully has the office of presidency, and Georgia Bayless is the secretary.

HOME EC. CLUB

● Now it isn't their chief aim in life just to be helpful wives! But it is a good idea. And these girls know just how it's done. What else could anyone wish? The aim of the club is to promote pleasant, wholesome social affairs and to combine educational, social, and business interests. And it would be nice just to sit down and make a new dress for an important date or exciting dance. Miss Dora Miller leads her girls along their chosen way.

Dorothy Sue Crumley	President
Charlotte Ferguson	Vice-President
Pawnee Akers	Treasurer
Sara Allen	Secretary

ART CLUB

Martha Carpenter	President
Imogene Blades	Vice-President
Jeanette Dye	Secretary
Helen Brokaw	Treasurer

● Forty-seven artists at once is a rather large order. But Miss Jones organized them all into a little club, and "Shadow" is in charge. What more could anyone ask? Of course, no one could really be responsible for just what could have happened.

The girls meet in a lovely club room up on the top floor of East. The setting should inspire something even if four flights of stairs form their ladder to hoped-for success. And besides studying the old masters (which is the object of the club), it is rumored that refreshments are served! What we need is bigger and better Art Clubs!

TENNESSEE CLUB

● These girls wonder why Tennessee is always made fun of. Maybe they're just self-conscious. A boost is what they need. If a state can be judged by its representatives, Tennessee must be a wonderful place. And that's no idle chatter. It's true, every word of it. They've celebrated their year up here by a Christmas party and a few other events. They even tried sponsoring a movie down town. Little Bertie has pulled them through in top shape. She's the president of this hearty bunch. And a good one, too. Just ask a fellow Tennesseean. She'll tell you!

WEST VIRGINIA CLUB

● There are a lot of new faces in the club this year. I guess West Virginia will always do or die for good old V. I. They'll carry on, these girlies, and go back home and spread the news around that Intermont is just the place to go to school. Didn't you know that Miss Grace Hutchinson was sponsor? Well, she is. I know she's so tiny that she's hard to locate, but we can manage. These girls seem to like the idea of steak dinners in town, or some of those good waffle-suppers at the tea-house. The president, Florence Cooper, knows her business!

TAR HEEL CLUB

●Just what would they do if they didn't have Harpo? She is really quite a figure, president of the club and everything. Mary Hart Mooneyham is vice-president and Suzelle Howes is secretary and treasurer. These Carolinians have been having a big time this year. They may not have done so very much, but they have certainly had fun doing it. Their parties have been grand. There are so many of them this year that you can hardly count them. Perhaps they've adopted a new slogan—"A Tar Heel on every floor in every dorm at V. I." We can take it, though. Come on, girls. Don't rush. V. I.'s waiting for you!

● Such a bevy of beauty—aha! Deah ole Virginyah has done her best. And just look at the result!

Since Virginia is the state with the largest representation here, there are other clubs of Virginia girls that take their toll. But just look at what's left even after that. These girls don't seem to worry about their figures, for talk of eating four and five hamburgers each at the old-fashioned hamburger-fry was rumored about. They must have inherited a beauty secret along with grandmother's dress that she wore when she danced with General R. E. Lee. How about passing it on, girls?

KENTUCKY CLUB

● The girls just can't resist it. They have to come back to the state of which their state was once a part. There must be something to that, too. Just look at those big smiles! Isn't it Kentucky that is famous for fast horses and beautiful women? (Confidentially, I wonder if it's the other way round?) The club is not a new one on the campus, but it rejuvenated itself with a brand new sponser, new to both club and campus, Miss Mary Stevenson. The ring-leaders of this bevy of beauty or some such fitting title are:

Mary Kemp

Elaine Ettin

LYNCHBURG CLUB

● Lynchburg must be a wonderful place. Vivian, did you get them all to come here? If you did, the school should put you on a salary at once. This is a new club, but it really couldn't help being formed. There are more girls from Lynchburg than are in several state clubs. Wonder how they all manage to get sick at the same time upon occasions like Thanksgiving? You know, the power of suggestion is a wonderful thing. While here at school these gals have had theater parties and dinners galore. And they had quite a time at the ranch-camp in the fall, even if they did forget a few things and tried to get back to town. Rightfully Miss Vivian Bair is President; Louise Bibee, Vice-President; and Jean Butler, Secretary and Treasurer. Miss Grace Reid is the Sponsor.

ROANOKE CLUB

● "R" stands for Roanoke, as well you might see. These girls stick together, no matter what else they do. And they've done some nice things together this year, too. But that's all right, for the purpose is to keep in touch with each other while home for vacations. These girls have semi-monthly meetings to plan their fun. Their Christmas party was given by Miss Reid. And they've had some dinner-parties in town, too. But the biggest events of this club are the teas and dinners in Roanoke at Christmas and Easter. Perhaps you should know that the girls from Salem are included in this group. Its officers are:

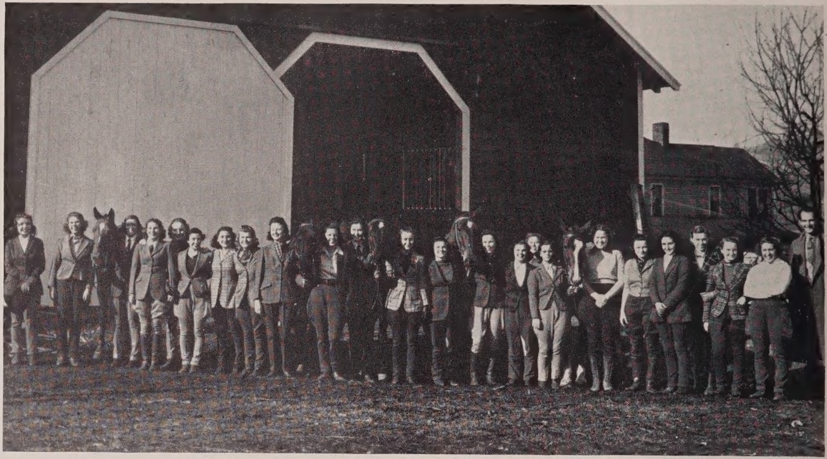
Lib Ergenbright
President

Pawnee Akers
Vice-President

Carol McCallum
Secretary and Treasurer

Miss Grace Reid
Sponsor

BOOTS AND SADDLE CLUB



Louise Lupton
President

Jeanne Craig
Vice-President

Suzelle Howes
Secretary

Nell White
Treasurer

● Since riding is one of the favorite sports here, this club has sprung up to create even further interest. With the building of the new stables and the acquiring of new horses, you can easily see what contagious enthusiasm the Boots-and-Saddlers have. There is a brand-new club room located at the stable where regular meetings are held. Mr. Dick Whitlow and Mr. Noffsinger seem to be the fond overseers of the project. However we still have the opportunity of seeing Miss Pflug mounted for her ride quite often. The horse show is the big riding event of the year.

PAN-AMERICAN CLUB

● The Cuban girls at V. I. have always had a grand club. But this year they decided not to be selfish and to let some others in on their good times. So the girls of foreign birth invited in anyone who was interested in their part of the world. Naturally, all the Spanish students poured in. So you need not wonder at the large number in the picture of the club members. They have added variety to the ordinary events of school days by making imaginary jaunts to Peru, Argentina, sunny, warm places. Um! Mrs. Bixby, Spanish instructor, has been captain of her ship on these trips with crew of:

Gloria Cancio
President

Josephine Connolly
Vice-President

Consuelo Miguel
Secretary and Treasurer

GALAMISS CLUB

● Once upon a time a few freckled faced misses from the land of cotton decided to have a gala time. These gala misses became, surprisingly enough, the Galamiss Club. This appropriate name is derived from a combination of the abbreviations of Georgia, Alabama, Louisiana, and Mississippi. Mrs. J. B. Kelly is the sponsor. The officers are Mary Jane Gentry, President; Della Lane, Vice-President; and Marguerite McDonald, Secretary and Treasurer. The mascot is "Tar-Baby," of Uncle Remus fame.

Above we see the gala-misses swarming over a taxi. Perhaps being from the "deep south," they don't recognize it. Those investigating this strange vehicle are:

Front Row: Rose Levy, Carolyn Sevier, Kay Uselton, Jane Sherrill Williamson, Mildred McElmurray, Marguerite McDonald, Sarah Dunford, Elizabeth Page, and Miller Owen.

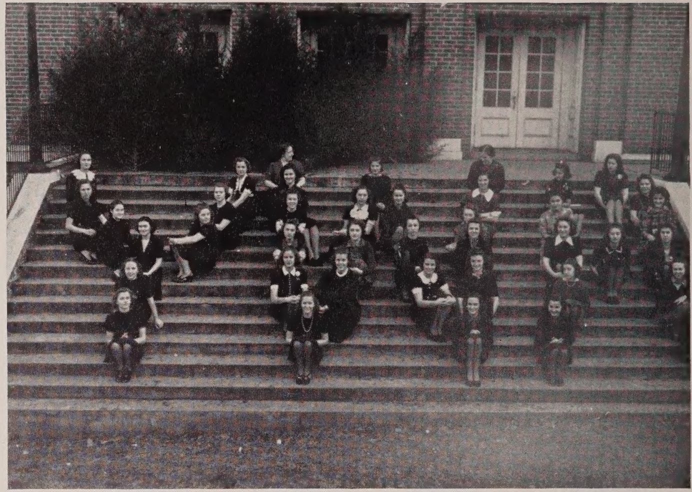
Back Row: Mattie West, Kay Stribling, and Mary Jane Gentry.

B. S. U.

● The Baptist Student Union is a comparatively new organization on the campus. But that doesn't hold it down in any way. On the contrary, it is a wide-awake group, leading and directing the religious activities here. In this, its second year, B. S. U. has really made its presence known. The object of this Union is to be a "buffer" group, helping all religious organizations in every way possible. They are responsible for the new religious activities room, Saturday night get-together parties, Sunday Bible-study class, and other helpful works. And they will continue to grow. The leader and officers of the B. S. U. are pictured as follows:

Laura Snow Auston, Isabelle Peacher, President, Mildred McElmurray, Miss Smith, Sponsor, Mickey Quillen, Willie Russell, Ann Moore, Celia Ann Shumate, Beth Gordon, Frances Carr, Secretary, Sarajane Payne, Treasurer, Thelma Gilliam.

Y. W. A.



● The Y.W.A. or Young Women's Auxiliary, is a traditional religious organization on the campus. It has done much to develop the highest type of Christianity among the girls this year as every other year. It is a guiding light for each girl away from her home church and Y.W.A. or some similar group. Morning Watch has meant much to many a girl. This organization was responsible for a Mission Study Class, directed by a well-known missionary from Africa. It aids in keeping the girls in touch with missions, both home and foreign. No girl who comes to V. I. will ever forget the Y.W. A. Christmas or Easter services. And all this is in addition to the regular bi-monthly inspirational services and personal service work carried on all the year round. Miss Rhoda Nunnally has long been adviser, and this year Miss Grace Reid has been an able assistant. The president is Marguerite Colonna.

SOCIAL COMMITTEE

● The social Committee is responsible for the whirl we live in. The membership consists of two Seniors, two Juniors, and one High School student. They assist Mrs. Murrell in planning dances and teas. Those who directed the activities of the "four hundred" this year are Marguerite Colonna, Louise Long, Florence Rea, Lou Spader, and Jeanne Craig. These socialites were elected by their respective classes.

RULES AND REGULATIONS COMMITTEE

● This year it was decided that a committee of students would be chosen to assist the faculty committee in studying and revising the rules and regulations which govern the student body. Representative students were chosen from each college class and from the preparatory classes.

We don't know exactly who is responsible, but we certainly have had favorable results. Even "Ye Olde Senior Privileges" have come to the front. Will wonders never cease?

The members of the committee have done much to make this year a success for the entire student body. They have given us every privilege which they deemed wise. We appreciate the faculty's confidence in us, shown by letting us have a part in this important matter and hope they will never regret having done so.

OUTING CLUB

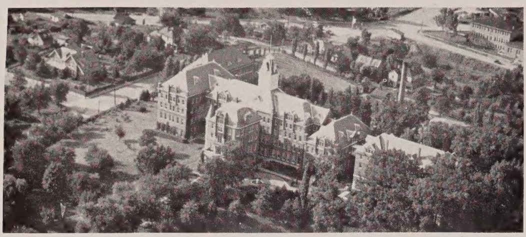
● Another new club sprouted wings and it really flew! Miss Lucas and Miss Pflug certainly know how to do things. At least, it would seem so from the number of girls who flocked to join.

The object has been to give the students diversion in the form of hikes in and around Bristol. It has also sponsored such fetes as a breakfast-hike, a supper-hike and a week-end at the Ranch Camp.

Sally Carroll, super-hiker, is President; Virginia Alexander, Vice-President; and Louise Lupton, Secretary-Treasurer.

We know that, with such an excellent start, this new club will mean much to girls to come.

SOCIAL CALENDAR



● The arrival of the Memphis Special on September 13, 1938, was not, in itself, unusual, but to a large percentage of its contents, i.e., V. I. students, it marked the beginning of a new life. We came, we saw, and the next Saturday night we were made officially at home by the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. W. A. at a party in the gym. At a pep meeting on the fourteenth we learned the school song and that our roommates can't sing. The next day, under our most becoming bonnets (remember them?), we all went to the First Baptist Church where we were again warmly welcomed by our school pastor, Doctor Hicks. Then that afternoon we went across the street to enjoy the gracious hospitality of President and Mrs. Noffsinger. On September nineteenth and thirtieth Mr. Schroetter and Miss Ordway gave us an idea of how talented our musical faculty is. And so for September.

● October first found us decked out in all our splendor while Frankie Reynold's orchestra supplied the background for our Fall Formal. Upon hearing Ruth Bryan Owen Rohde on October sixth, all Intermont decided on the diplomatic service for future careers, but then all who can sing, and many who can't, gave this up in favor of operatic ambitions when we heard Rose Bampton's recital on the tenth. Not to be outdone, the Kiwanians further delighted us October thirteenth (which was not unlucky) by treating us to an outing at Hungry Mother Park. October twenty-ninth brought the Y. W. C. A. Hallowe'en party which was, to say the least, a howling success.

● November, for some of us, was a sad time, for on the fifth, close on the heels of six-weeks tests, reports went home and many of us learned that studying is a worthwhile pastime. To cheer us up a bit, Miss Nunnally's students presented "Jane Eyre." Nobly done! Thanksgiving holiday provided great fun for us all—what with turkey, football games and scrumptuous boxes from home. On the twenty-ninth the Y. W. A. entertained at tea and so concluded the social life for November . . . a memorable month.

● December opened with a flourish. Our prettiest formals "trucked" over to the beautifully decorated gym where Billy Brooks "beat it out" for the Christmas Formal. After the annual Christmas play, our excitement over the coming holidays reached a new high, especially when the Y. W. C. A. gave a tea on December thirteenth and followed it by playing Santa Claus to Bristol's underprivileged children. December sixteenth finally came and . . . Xmas holidays!

● Back again on January fourth! How wistful we got telling our roommates all about the divine time we had at home and all the wonders of our vacation. We had an equally enjoyable time at Lisa Parnova's dance recital, an experience which we shan't soon forget. But before long an experience, much less lovely, forced itself upon us. From the twenty-third until the twenty-eighth we realized the seriousness of a college education. Exams over, we donned our very best for the annual Colonial Ball. The O. A. O.'s (One Among Others), Bob Sylvester's band, Mr. Cooke's decorations and Mrs. Murrell's gracious cooperation made it an affair long to be remembered. We had hardly ceased talking about it when P-Nut week was celebrated and, too soon, the P-Nut dinner brought to a close one of the finest of our college traditions. How can we ever forget the Junior-Senior basket-ball game and poor "Lou Reba" swinging in the morning breeze? Just ask any Senior who won that game, but don't be surprised if she admits that it was a mighty close race.

● On March fourth Mrs. Kelly displayed the talents of her pupils in a dance recital. Soon after, the High School Juniors and Seniors joined hands for Auld Lang Syne at their annual banquet and another pleasant memory was added to our overflowing store. We shall all remember the concert of Gregor Piatigorsky as one of the most enjoyable of the year. "Pinafore" was the proverbial "howling success" with a run of two performances (standing room only) and we all roared at the dialogue and tuneful songs. Then the staff rolled up its sleeves and prepared for the Annual dance. We all secretly wondered just when we'd get our books, but that didn't keep anyone from having a grand time.

- April was welcomed with open arms . . . bringing as it did Easter and Spring Holidays. Once again there were happy memories unmarred by everyone repeating "This time last week . . ." and letting their voices trail off in unmeasured bliss. Heart throbs and pit-a-pat! Lawrence Tibbett is "tops" at V. I. We have never heard such a divine voice and, if we live to be a million, we won't forget his concert April seventeenth.

- May, our last month at V. I., topped them all, even if we did have exams and many tears for all the things we are going to miss next year.

- May the first, the Juniors and Seniors attended the opening of the New York World's Fair, at the Elk's Club. The banquet was the occasion for dine, women, and song, and perhaps a few furtive tears by the Seniors.

- On the eleventh the annual Dogwood Festival brought fun, frolic and the "breath of spring" to Bristol and to us.

- We are sure that Carole was the prettiest May Queen in all the country and with her court made the campus a thing of spectacular beauty.

- Exams subdued us, but not completely, for the Senior breakfast was just not the sort of thing to be calm about. When Doctor and Mrs. Noffsinger so graciously entertained the Seniors at tea on the eighteenth we realized that Commencement was almost upon us. The next night was that of the impressive Torchlight service. May twentieth brought the Trustee's meeting and the Commencement Play, and Sunday, the beautiful Bacculaureate Service and our last Vesper hour. On May twenty-second the Seniors departed this life, armed with Diplomas and a warm spot in their hearts for V. I.
